

Welcome Jake Fuller: Jake's Corner Comes to Advantage Publishing

As some of you might have noticed, my editorial cartoons no longer appear in Gainesville's local newspaper. Budget cuts brought to an end my tenure in the belly of the liberal beast.

So, now that I'm going to be aggravating folks in the various publications of Advantage Publishing, let me introduce myself.

I'm originally from Lakeland, but have lived in Gainesville since 1970. I'm married to Laura Fuller, probably well-known to many area builders. We have two sons, both attending Santa Fe Community College.

In my imagined life I would be spending all my time outdoors on the back of one of my horses. But, in reality, I'll settle for lampooning local windbag politicians and left-wing loons.

So, hopefully I'll stir things up a little, and bring a chuckle to our readers.
